Attendance and Punctuality

- A parent's guide

What the law says...

The law entitles every child of compulsory school age to an efficient, full-time education suitable to their age, aptitude, and any special educational need they may have. It is the legal responsibility of every parent to make sure their child receives that education either by attendance at a school or by education otherwise than at a school. If your child is of compulsory school age is registered at a school it is essential that they attend regularly. There is a strong link between absence and attainment. Any absence affects the pattern of a child's schooling. Regular absence seriously affects a child's learning. Good attendance and punctuality will increase the chances of a child achieving their full potential in school.

At Meadowhead we will:

- ♦ work with pupils and their families to ensure each pupil attends school regularly and punctuality.
- ♦ acknowledge the efforts of pupils and parents who ensure good attendance and punctuality.
- ♦ challenge the behaviour of those pupils and parents who give low priority to attendance and punctuality.
- ♦ maintain an effective and efficient system of communication with pupils, parents and appropriate agencies to assist in improving attendance and punctuality.
- ♦ maintain an effective and efficient system of gathering, monitoring and analysing attendance related data.
- ♦ continue to ensure that good attendance and punctuality is a priority for pupils, parents, staff and governors.

Parents have a responsibility to:

- ♦ ensure that their child is educated.
- ♦ ensure that their child attends school every day that school is open.
- ♦ ensure that their child attends school on time every day that school is open.
- ♦ notify school if their child is unwell and unable to attend school.

Schools have a responsibility to:

- ♦ keep an attendance register at the beginning of the morning and afternoon sessions.
- ♦ Inform the Inclusion Support Team of pupils who are persistently absent, have a high level of unauthorised absences or who have been absent for longer than 2 weeks without reason.
- ♦ work collaboratively with parents, pupils, governors and other agencies to promote good attendance and punctuality.

The key reasons for attending school...

Going to school should be interesting and enjoyable. Not only will you learn subjects but you will also learn new skills, including social skills. The skills and knowledge that you learn at school will help you now and in later life as you start work. Good attendance shows potential employers that you are reliable. Some other key reasons for attending school regularly are:

- ♦ To build confidence and self-esteem.
- ♦ To have fun and learn new skills - every day is a school day!
- ♦ To make new friends.
- ♦ To have the best possible start in life.
- ♦ To develop awareness of other cultures.

How parents can help...

Achieving good attendance and punctuality is everybody's responsibility.

Parents have a responsibility to:

- ◆ Ensure their child is educated.
- ◆ Ensure their child attends school every day that it is open.
- ◆ Establish a good routine in the mornings and evenings so your child is ready for the school day ahead.
- ◆ Ensure their child attends school on time every day that it is open—base doors open at 8.40am and register is taken at 8.50am. After this time your child is late. School finishes at 3.20pm
- ◆ Arrange regular medical appointments for outside school hours.
- ◆ Ensure you contact school everyday that your child is absent via the app.
- ◆ Take family holidays outside of term time.
- ◆ Talk to your child about school and take an interest in their school work.
- ◆ Praise and reward your child's achievements at school.
- ◆ Attend parents evenings and school events.
- ◆ Always support school staff in their efforts to control difficult or challenging behaviour.

Family holidays...

There is no doubt the price of a holiday in school holiday time can be much higher than in term-time, the attraction to take a holiday in term-time can be tempting.

So, what can happen if you do this?

The rules about term-time holidays changed in 2013, there is no entitlement for holidays. In England it is only the Head Teacher that can authorise a holiday in term-time, and only when there are exceptional circumstances.

The absence will be marked as unauthorised (code G) with the Head Teacher requesting to the Local Authority (LA) for a fine (penalty notice) to be issued. The fine is £60 per parent per child.

If you have previously been fined for a holiday during term time you are at risk of prosecution, which has a much higher penalty. The fine doubles to £120 if you don't pay within 21 days of the fine being issued. If you fail to pay within 28 days you could be taken to court under Section 444 of the Education Act 1996.

Some points to consider if you go ahead with the holiday:

- ◆ The impact of absence on your child's educational progress.
- ◆ Miss time with school friends.
- ◆ Your child could miss out on cross co-curricular activities and clubs.
- ◆ You must make a request for absence to the headteacher by completing a form available from the office.

In each academic year there are only 190 statutory school days—this allows plenty of time for holidays to be arranged outside of term time.

Every school day counts...

School is the best environment for the vast majority of pupils to learn in.

Being surrounded by teachers and friends in school helps keep children safe, and supports them to reach their potential. Being in school is important to your child's academic achievement, wellbeing, and wider development.

There is evidence to suggest that regular school attendance is a key mechanism to support children and young people's educational, economic and social outcomes.

Schools can facilitate positive peer relationships, which contributes to better mental health and wellbeing. Attendance at school is crucial to prepare young people for successful transition to adulthood.

At Meadowhead we have a first day response system.

- ♦ If you think your child is too ill for school you must contact school and leave a message on the absence line or drop a message on the school app. Please refer to the last 2 pages for more information regarding NHS advice on absences for children's illnesses.
- ♦ You will receive a message on the app or phonecall if you do not let us know the reason for absence.
- ♦ If your child has significantly low attendance, you may receive a home visit from staff at school.
- ♦ If your child's attendance continues to fall, you will receive letters and/or notification to meet with the Headteacher. If there is no improvement made, a referral will be made to the Local Authority's Inclusion Support Team.
- ♦ If you feel you need any support with your child's attendance please do not hesitate to contact our Attendance team—Mrs Ramsbottom, Miss Duckworth or Ms Blackledge.

Every school minute counts...

Good punctuality at school is essential for students to achieve their full educational potential. It is also vital for students to form good habits for later life. Good attendance in primary school leads into good attendance at secondary school.

Punctuality records form part of references passed onto employers or further educational institutes such as college.

Registration starts at 8.50am and ends at 9am. All children arriving after this time will receive an 'L' mark. Children arriving after 9.20am will receive a 'U' mark unless evidence is provided for the reason; this means the whole morning or afternoon will be recorded as unauthorised and a missed session will impact your child's attendance.

Lessons begin at the very start of the school day, so if your child is late to school, even by a few minutes they are missing vital information for the lesson.

Getting your child to school on time really matters

If in a school year your child is late everyday .....	Your child would have lost approximately .....	Or they would have missed approximately .....
5 Minutes	3 days from school	16 lessons lost
10 Minutes	5 days from school	32 lessons lost
15 Minutes	8 days from school	48 lessons lost
20 Minutes	11 days from school	63 lessons lost
30 Minutes	16 days from school	95 lessons lost

Promoting good attendance...

Advice for children's illnesses...

It can be tricky deciding whether or not to keep your child off school when they're unwell; these are the government's guidelines for schools about managing specific infectious diseases at GOV.UK. These say when children should be kept off school and when they shouldn't.

If you do keep your child at home, it is important to phone the school on the first day of absence, let us know that your child won't be in and give the reason.

Coughs and colds

It's fine to send your child to school with a minor cough or common cold. But if they have a fever, keep them off school until the fever goes. Encourage your child to throw away any used tissues and to wash their hands regularly.

High temperature

If your child has a high temperature, keep them off school until it goes away. You may want to give paracetamol to help reduce the temperature. Your child can then go back to school.

Chickenpox

If your child has chickenpox, keep them off school until all the spots have crusted over. This is usually about 5 days after the spots first appeared.

Cold sores

There's no need to keep your child off school if they have a cold sore. Encourage them not to touch the blister or kiss anyone while they have the cold sore, or to share things like cups and towels.

Conjunctivitis

You don't need to keep your child away from school if they have conjunctivitis. Do get advice from your pharmacist. Encourage your child not to rub their eyes and to wash their hands regularly.

Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Your child should try to stay at home and avoid contact with other people if they have symptoms of COVID-19 and they either:

- have a high temperature.
- do not feel well enough to go to school or do their normal activities.

If they have mild symptoms and they feel well enough, they can still go to school.

If your child does not have coronavirus symptoms or they had a test, and it was negative (they do not have coronavirus).

Ear infection

If your child has an ear infection and a high temperature or severe earache, keep them off school until they're feeling better and seek medical advice.

Advice for children's illnesses...

Hand, foot, and mouth disease

If your child has hand, foot and mouth disease but seems well enough to go to school, there's no need to keep them off. Encourage your child to throw away any used tissues straight away and to wash their hands regularly.

Head lice and nits

There's no need to keep your child off school if they have head lice. You can treat head lice and nits without seeing a GP.

Impetigo

If your child has impetigo, they'll need treatment from a GP, often with antibiotics. Keep them off school until all the sores have crusted over and healed, or for 48 hours after they start antibiotic treatment.

Encourage your child to wash their hands regularly and not to share things like towels and cups with other children at school.

Ringworm

If your child has ringworm, see your pharmacist unless it's on their scalp, in which case you should see a GP.

It's fine for your child to go to school once they have started treatment.

Scarlet fever

If your child has scarlet fever, they'll need treatment with antibiotics from a GP. Otherwise, they'll be infectious for 2 to 3 weeks. Your child can go back to school 24 hours after starting antibiotics.

Slapped cheek syndrome (fifth disease)

You don't need to keep your child off school if they have slapped cheek syndrome because, once the rash appears, they're no longer infectious. But let the school or teacher know if you think your child has slapped cheek syndrome.

Sore throat

You can still send your child to school if they have a sore throat. But if they also have a high temperature, they should stay at home and seek medical advice. A sore throat and a high temperature can be symptoms of tonsillitis.

Threadworms

You don't need to keep your child off school if they have threadworms. Speak to your pharmacist, who can recommend a treatment.

Vomiting and diarrhoea

Children with diarrhoea or vomiting should stay away from school until they have not been sick or had diarrhoea for at least 2 days (48 hours). We may treat some cases differently and will ascertain if 24 hours is suitable for some families.

If you have any questions regarding keeping your child at home with illness please speak to Ms Blackledge, Mrs Ramsbottom or Miss Duckworth.

Our school walking bus

In an effort to raise attendance and reduce lateness in our school, we have set up a 'Walking Bus'. The scheme is also an ideal way to increase the amount of exercise your child gets and help them develop essential pedestrian skills for later life. A healthy and fun way to start the day!

We can work in the 3 local areas, Mill hill, Livesey and Green Lane. We will alternate 2 areas at a time depending on the need.

How does it work?

The children will walk to school as a group, using an agreed route under the supervision of adults. It will operate every school day, whatever the weather.

- ◆ Staff will leave school at 8am, a message will be sent to let parents know – please have your child ready at this time.
- ◆ All staff will wear a school badged coat.
- ◆ Staff may knock on the door to announce their arrival or wait at the garden gate.
- ◆ Staff will walk set route and will meet your child at a time allocated for them to join the walking bus.
- ◆ Staff will not enter properties.
- ◆ Children are expected to stay together.
- ◆ When crossing the road, the staff promote and follow the appropriate road safety rules.
- ◆ Upon arrive at school, children will go straight into class to join their lesson.
